

Restriction and Notification of Ill Food Workers

Healthy food workers are important factors in foodborne illness prevention. Food workers must inform the PIC / Manager if they have:

1

Symptoms of a Gastrointestinal Infection

Symptoms of a gastrointestinal infection such as diarrhea, vomiting or jaundice (yellow skin or eyes) unless they have written medical documentation that the symptom is due to a medical condition not transmissible through food.

2

Sore Throat with Fever

3

A Lesion

A lesion containing pus, such as a boil or infected wound that is open or draining and is:

- On the hands or wrist.
- On exposed portions of the arms.
- On other parts of the body, unless the lesion is covered by a dry, durable tight-fitting bandage.

4

A Diagnosed Illness

A diagnosed illness from Norovirus, Hepatitis A, Salmonella, Shigella, and Shiga toxin-producing E.coli.

The PIC / Manager / Owner must notify the Regulatory Authority if a food worker has jaundice or a diagnosed illness that can be transmitted through food.
